HERBAL EXTRACTS - A Herbal Extract is a substance made by extracting a part of a herbal raw material, often by using a solvent such as methanol or water. The process of Herbal Extraction is usually designed to maximise a certain portion of the original chemical compounds found in the plant, many of which have a therapeutic action.

PHYTOCHEMICALS - Phytochemicals are chemical compounds produced by plants, generally to help them thrive or thwart competitors, predators, or pathogens. Phytochemicals are non-nutritive plant chemicals that have protective or disease preventive properties.

SPRAY DRIED POWDERS - Spray Dried Powders generally refers to fruit and vegetable powders that have been converted into the powder form for longer shelf life by using Low Temperature Spray Drying Technique.

PROTEINS - Proteins are large biomolecules, or macromolecules, consisting of one or more long chains of amino acid residues. Proteins are required for the structure, function, and regulation of the body's cells, tissues, and organs.

AMINO ACIDS - An amino acid is an organic compound characterized by having a carboxyl group, amino group, and side chain attached to a central carbon atom. Amino acids, often referred to as the building blocks of proteins, are compounds that play many critical roles in your body.

VITAMINS - A vitamin is a chemical compound that is needed in small amounts for the human body to work correctly. Vitamins are considered essential nutrients—because acting in concert, they perform hundreds of roles in the body. They help shore up bones, heal wounds, and bolster your immune system.

NUTRACEUTICALS - A nutraceutical product may be defined as a substance, which has physiological benefit or provides protection against chronic disease. Nutraceuticals may be used to improve health, delay the aging process, prevent chronic diseases, increase life expectancy, or support the structure or function of the body.

SWEETENERS - Sweetener refers to any of various natural and artificial substancesused to sweeten food or drink, especially one other than sugar. They are used to improve the palatability and shelf life of food products. Sweeteners are classified as natural or artificial depending upon their source and processing techniques.

ENZYMES - Enzymes are protein molecules in cells which work as biological catalysts. Enzymes speed up chemical reactions in the body, but do not get used up in the process, therefore can be used over and over again. They are vital for life and serve a wide range of important functions in the body, such as aiding in digestion and metabolism.

PROBIOTICS - Probiotics are live microorganisms (usually bacteria) that are similar to beneficial microorganisms found in the human gut that are taken as dietary supplements or found in foods. Most probiotics are bacteria similar to those naturally found in the intestine.
